2009 GenFest coming to the Strand

Written by David on September, 22 2008

The Shelby County Genealogical Society will be hosting the annual Indiana Genealogical Convention in 2009. GenFest, the name of the event, will attract people from across the state to Shelby County. The Strand Theatre is honored to be a part of the festivities. The specifics of the event are still in the early planning stages, but the Strand will be the venue for the opening program, and offerings through out the day. The 2009 GenFest will take place on June 12 & 13th.

As people search for the GenFest 2009 information, the Strand will be ready to assist with helping them make their trip to Shelbyville enjoyable and fulfilling. Thank you for Susan Armstrong and all the members of the Shelby County Genealogical Society for including the Strand in this event.
