Balcony Floor Painting

Written by David on January, 27 2009

During the month of January 2009, the volunteers of the Strand have been accomplishing some tasks. Among the completion list is the floor paint in the Balcony. When we opened the theatre one year ago, we didn't have time to finish this painting. The floor was painted all grey. It was bland.

Strand volunteer Gordon Hood remedied the problem. He finished the balcony by painting our "carpet". While real carpet would be nice, the painted version adds nice color, and is certainly within our very limited budget. Next time you are in the theatre, make sure you go up to the balcony to see this nice floor paint! Thank you to our friends a Shelbyville Paint and Wallpaper who make projects like these affordable for our theatre.
