View from the Street

Written by David on April, 5 2009

The first of three office chandeliers as hung the week of April 3, 2009. They were lamped and used the following evening. When completed, each of the offices will have matching fixtures that will glow all night. The Strand is looking better and better from the outside. Work is continuing finishing the windows. The picture can show it, but the north and south sets of windows are scraped and caulked, ready for primer.
