Test Post ? Upgraded Website!

Written by David on April, 26 2009

Shane, the trusty Strand Web Guru has updated our site. There are a lot of bells and whistles, just none that are visible. He has been working on our site loading speed and all sorts of other fun stuff. So far our SEO is holding its own. Soon we will do a little SEM on a very low bid. Those of you out there that understand the language know what I am talking about.

Hopefully you will find our new site configuration easy and quicker to use. Again, it is only the mechanics behind the site that has changed. There are some really cool new gizmos to use. I can strikeout if I want. I can insert a custom character ? , you never know when that will come in handy. The only thing it still doesn't have is a spell checker, but thats OK. Strand Board Member Debbie E. is our very thorough, although low tech, spell checker.
