Blown away

Written by David on March, 17 2010

We find many interesting things in the Strand. This past weekend rates as one of the most unusual. Just before Gingerfest, we noticed we had a problem with our speakers. A component of the speakers failed. Normally you would not see through the diaphragm in the picture. As you can see, the light shines brightly through. Ron Bush and Gordon Hood sourced the repair parts and installed them in time for this coming weekend.
