Strand Theatre Weekly Email: September 3, 2010

Written by David on September, 3 2010

This week is more fun. We have Lady Frankenstein (1971) on Friday, and a repeat of the John Calvert Double Feature on Saturday. If you are hungry for some good popcorn, give us a visit and watch a movie!

Some things just don't work out as planned. The owners of the rights to The King and I which we were showing (notice the were) on September 12th, informed us they goofed. They don't own the rights to that movie. They said "how about South Pacific?" We said sure. So in place of the lovely song I Have Dreamed, we will be hearing Some Enchanted Evening. Not a bad swap. We have one Strand Fan who is particularly fond of Happy Talk! A dream come true for that person. All you musical lovers, this will be a treat. It will be shown after the Shelby Senior Services Membership Concert. Come spend the afternoon and evening with us! A Hollywood Musical on the big screen is something to see.

Lectures abound. This month we have 2. First is the 3rd Lecture of our Strand Lecture Series. It is a discussion of public health by Robert Lewis. Robert is with the Shelby County Health Department. His lecture will be entertaining, that is for sure. It will be on September 12, 2010 at 7:00pm and is free.

Dr. John A. Ramsey, formerly of Shelbyville, will be at the Strand Theatre on September 16, 2010 to present his new book, Nino's Epiphanies: A Chiropractor Explains to You and Your Doctor What Really Causes and Cures Back and Neck Pain. Dr. Ramsey will explain the unique method for treating pain he developed over the course of 45 years of practice on nearly 10,000 patients. Following his discussion and an audience question-and-answer session, Dr. Ramsey will conduct a book-signing. The lecture starts at 7:00pm and is free.

The Shelby County Players are busy rehearsing for their next production Inspecting Carol. It will be a fun and funny performance. We look forward to welcoming them back the first week of October. Plan to attend one of these performances.

Just when you thought it was safe to read (warning, tech talk ahead) we have had yet another failure. That pesky AC unit decided to fail again. Fortunately Mother Nature is helping with cooler temperatures, so it won't be crucial to maintaining a comfortable temperature in the auditorium. Seems as though Bob S's claim that the Freon leak must be slow wasn't quite correct. At $28 per pound and we used about 15# last time?.it is still going to be an expensive fix. Bob has informed our Board that he is bringing in outside help, so we'll let you know how it goes.

Things are still trotting away. Lots of entertainment in our County, we are pleased with that. Our friends Nuff Said just played Kendall's, it is nice to see that venue back. As we have said many times, the Strand is about exposing our citizens to live entertainment. Whether at our theatre, Occasions, Half Pints, Kendall's or one of the many places that are bringing in entertainment, you are still helping the Strand mission.

The Strand would like to offer our condolences to the family of Bill Ancil. Bill passed away this week. He was the type of volunteer that our community needs. He helped us at the Strand, as well as many other organizations. He will be missed.

We hope to see you at the theatre this weekend. Thank you for the support and encouragement. Have a great Labor Day Holiday.
