65th Street Klezmerim: January 29, 2012

Written by David on December, 4 2011

The 65th Street Klezmerim will perform on Sunday January 29, 2012 at the Strand Theatre in Shelbyville, Indiana. This group from the Indianapolis Hebrew Congregation will present a concert of traditional klezmer music. Under the direction of Cantor Janice Roger, the group will be joined by artist and composer Steven Greenman and Pete Rushefsky.

Steven Greenman is recognized internationally as one of the finest practitioners, composers and teachers of traditional East European Jewish klezmer violin music in the world today. He has performed internationally with notable klezmer ensembles Stempenyu's Dream, Khevrisa, the Klezmatics, Budowitz, the Flying BulgarKlezmer Band, Kapelye. As a concert performer Steven has been a guest soloist with the Cleveland Pops Orchestra, the Canton Symphony and the Akron Symphony performing his own arrangements of traditional East European Gypsy violin music and klezmer music.

Pete Rushefsky is a klezmer musician and Executive Director of the Center for Traditional Music and Dance, which has its home in New York City. He plays the tsimbl (cimbalon) as well as the 5-string banjo. Rushefsky has a book published called Essentials of Klezmer 5-String Banjo, Volume I. He and Steven make up the duo ?Di Tzvei? (the two).

Both Greenman and Rushefsky will also join the 65th Street Klezmerim for Shabbat service on Friday, January 27 at the Indianapolis Hebrew Congregation at 6501 North Meridian Street, Indianapolis.
