Pressed In Black: February 16, 2013

Written by Jacob on February, 16 2013

Pressed In Black came back to the Strand stage on February 16, 2013. This concert was a celebration of their fifth anniversary and the release of the new Pressed In Black album "Chuckwagon Theater."

The group performed original music that was fun and well received. Pressed In Black performed on our stage when they were first starting. Like the Strand, they have grown and developed artistically. It was a please for all the loyal rock and roll audience to hear how far they have come.

The Acoustic Experience started the evening with a dynamic first set that spanned a wide range of musical styles and tastes. The Strand appreciated the inclusion of a song from the White Album in the set. The group finished their set with "Stairway to Heaven." Performers know how hard that song is to pull off with a full band, let alone to acoustic guitars and a singer. We look forward to their return with COSMOS on April 27, 2013.

The Strand was the place to be this weekend for outstanding local music! Thank you to all the musicians who volunteered their talent to the Strand so that we can continue our mission of providing this historic performance venue to our community.
