Strand Theatre Weekly Email: September 25, 2013

Written by David on September, 25 2013

Dear Strand Fan,

Welcome to our new email format! Our web site was hacked and we had to look for a more secure method of sending our Weekly Emails. This is it! We will continue to send text only. We hope you like it.

The Strand survived the electrical upgrade. Steve Dennis and his crew finished at 4:00pm last Friday. Good thing, since we had a show at 7:00pm. Everything is working as hoped, with still several things yet to accomplish. We are waiting for our stage lighting mounting bars, custom stage lighting connection boxes and many more. Steve will be back between shows getting some of the punch list items complete.

If you have been to the theatre this summer you will notice the nicely lit STRAND sign in the lobby. This actually is for the back of the theatre. When we are running new wire we will finally mount this sign. It will look great in the alley and give just a little bit more light for safety.

Friday night we hosted two Indiana produced films with a question and answer session from their directors. FOUND, directed by Scott Schirmer and BEVERLY LANE, directed by Joshua Hull. Both these artists gave interesting insight concerning the planning, filming and post production of each film. The audience had interesting questions and the event highlighted the great talent we have in our State.

On Saturday night nationally known comic JIMMY PARDO performed at the Strand. We had patrons from 4 states attend. One couple drove from DecaturIllinois! The audience was predominantly from outside ShelbyCounty. Jimmy has loyal fans. The patrons were most complimentary about the Strand and our community. Jimmy was extremely funny and didn't pick on anyone too much. The Strand was the object of the jokes many times. That was OK with us. He is known as a comic's comic. We now know why. Thank you Jimmy for performing in Shelbyville, Indiana.

On Sunday the Shelby County Players loaded in their set for next week's production of NIGHT WATCH. Don't miss this psychological drama that will keep you guessing till the very last moment!

The Strand appreciates your support. You make the Strand what it is today. Thank you. We will see you at the Strand!
