Strand Weekly Newsletter 6/29/2018

Written by David on June, 29 2018

New things thrill us. We hope they thrill you too. We are trying something new. You will see our upcoming posters at the bottom of this newsletter. Please let us know if you like them. We understand that it will slow the load speed, but we don't know how much. We have many great events and it has been challenging in 2018 to have an audience. Hopefully this will help. We know if we stay static, nothing will change.

This week our only event was the Community Treasure Series Lecture by the SALVATION ARMY. It was very informative. If you or your organization would like to be included in our lecture series, please reply to this email. Coming up we are scheduling a talk on the Birds of Shelby County. This is by an individual, not an organization. If you do have an organization and want to present a program, we would love that too. Let us know.

Strand Fun Fact: Did you know that our new sidewalk is 18' wider than our old sidewalk?

Strand not so fun fact: Traffic is going to get difficult for us. After being spoiled by having our own private lane in front of the theater, that is going away. According to the contractor, the traffic will become southbound only in front of the Strand. This will mean for the next 15 days starting today, we will not have parking in front of the theater. We can live with that, but it also means we will have no place to drop off in front of the Strand. Many of our mobility challenged patrons need to be let off in front of the door. This is going to not be a good situation. We are working with the contractor, state, and local officials to come up with a solution. We will keep you informed.

We are dark this week. You can visit us nightly at the Shelby County Fair in the Brinson Building. We will be there with all our Arts Alliance Partners. We are taking advantage of having no events and doing a few housekeeping items. First off is our annual inspection by the State Fire Marshal's office as part of the Department of Homeland Security. We have checked all our paperwork and to do list of things suggested, and we are good to go. For a decade we enjoyed a productive relationship with DHS. We hope to reestablish that. Our theater is the safest it has been in our 102 year existence.

We are also going to move furniture into our new offices. This will take some help. As soon as we have a date for a work sessions, we will let you know. We only have two items left in the offices. Two ceilings need a final coat of paint, and our historic windows need refurbished. We have applied to Mainstreet Shelbyville for a grant to help offset part of the cost of a historic window restoration. We had some additional information needed for Mainstreet, but finally have gotten that together. We will let you know how that goes.

JULY 10 - GLENGARRY GLEN ROSS. This movie is an adaptation of the David Mamet play. In simple terms it is a modern take on Death of a Salesman. Not too many theater show this film because of the language. When you get past that, the story is one that is too reflective of what is often American life. It stars Jack Lemmon, Al Pacino, Alec Baldwin, Jonathan Pryce, Kevin Spacey, and Ed Harris. As you can see, it is an all-star cast. This is not an easy subject matter, but is an excellent adaptation from Pulitzer Prize winning playwright David Mamet. If you saw it on stage (which we would rather have), you know what we mean. We are proud to show it as a part of our Festival Film Series.

JULY 11 - GETTYSBURG LECTURE. As part of our recognition of the 155th anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg we are doing two events. This lecture will take our audience to the battlefield. The lecturer, Andrew McRoberts, will discuss the strategy, topography, and the outcomes of this historic battle. The evening will finish with an Abraham Lincoln interpreter delivering the Gettysburg Address. This should be impactful after learning the details of that fateful battle.

JULY 12 - GETTYSBURG (1993). We are showing the 1993 epic film on based on the book The Killer Angels. The film chronicles the events of the battle, bringing the audience onto the battlefield. Seeing this film will have a new viewpoint for most of us after learning the details at the previous night's lecture.

Thank you for all your support. We have lots of things this summer (and the rest of the year too!). We are busy booking for 2019. If there is something you would like, please let us know. Many of our concerts and programs come from suggestions. Enjoy the posters. See you at the Strand!
